

Project teaches English language

from pg. 1

people who have been in the U.S. for a short time and are having trouble with the language.

Project Manager, explains that the students are not just learning English, but also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S. The students are also learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world.

During the course, students are taken on a tour of the city of Spokane to help them learn about the city and the people who live there. They are also learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world.

In an expression of the project called the "English for the Future" program, the students are learning about the future of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world.

One of the students who is taking the course is a young man from the U.S. who is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

Photo by Alan Smith

Instructor Christine Busch (second from left) and students work on practical English in a McCall's restaurant scene.

instructor Christine Busch (second from left) and students work on practical English in a McCall's restaurant scene.

instructor Christine Busch (second from left) and students work on practical English in a McCall's restaurant scene.

instructor Christine Busch (second from left) and students work on practical English in a McCall's restaurant scene.

instructor Christine Busch (second from left) and students work on practical English in a McCall's restaurant scene.

Teachers from pg. 1

ing in College Employment and Training Program and was given $50 per hour for a six-week and support for the rest of the year. The teacher was also given a salary advance of $500.

He is still in the program and is still working on his degree. He is also working on his master's degree.

He is still in the program and is still working on his degree. He is also working on his master's degree.

Talks from pg. 1

many people to read the writing. The students are also learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

also spent about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

Program gets new co-ordinator

By Scott Macdonald

Project Co-ordinator in Spokane, the center is now open to all students who are interested in learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

He is learning about the history of the U.S. and the role of the U.S. in the world. He is also learning about the culture and the way of life in the U.S.

Correction

In the May 29 issue of Spoke, Ryan D. Bailey was quoted as saying that the U.S. is a "free country" and that the U.S. is a "free country".

In the May 29 issue of Spoke, Ryan D. Bailey was quoted as saying that the U.S. is a "free country" and that the U.S. is a "free country".

News Flash

If you have a news tip, or anything else that you think should be in Spoke, call the Spoke hotline:

748 - 5366

9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Weekdays

Attention Students!

If you're looking for a summer job, the Canada Employment Centre for Students has a wide variety of occupations to choose from

The centre, at 207 King St. W., Kitchener, is open 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays to serve you. Come down in person or phone 744-8151.

Detweiler Centre to get co-op students this fall

By Julie Lawrence

The Donald H. Detweiler Centre will be offering a co-operation program this fall to its high school students, who will study and George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator in the centre.

Four students from the Waterloo Region, Canada will be studying at Conestoga's Management Degree and its Honours, Bachelor's and Master's, in January 1990. Mary E. — who has done an internship with a bank — will be studying in the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

It is a well-known program, says Woods, and it is a well-known program, says Woods, and it is a well-known program, says Woods.

and in the co-op program being offered in the college.

Woods said the four students would be coming to the centre for educational study — on the technical, computer, management and social engineering, and on the business management and programs. One or two students will be placed in working and the others will be working on the business program.

The four students coming to the centre will be studying in a full-time program, which means they will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

Woods said the four students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

George Woods

and said they would be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

The high school students will also be given the opportunity to do some research, says Woods. They will have the opportunity to do some research, says Woods. They will have the opportunity to do some research, says Woods.

The students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

The co-op program will give the students more credit towards their high school diploma — two or three credits for the work at Conestoga College. The students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

In a general, Woods said the program will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

Detweiler Centre is offering a co-operation program this fall to its high school students, who will study and George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator in the centre.

It is a well-known program, says Woods, and it is a well-known program, says Woods, and it is a well-known program, says Woods.

The co-op program will give the students more credit towards their high school diploma — two or three credits for the work at Conestoga College. The students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

In a general, Woods said the program will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

Photo by Julie Lawrence/Photo

George Woods shows a student in high school students, while they heard the news.

Tour provides history lesson

By Julie Lawrence

Students from Norfolk County Secondary School are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator, is showing the students the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

Students from Norfolk County Secondary School are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator, is showing the students the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

Students from Norfolk County Secondary School are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator, is showing the students the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

The students are touring the site of the Detweiler Centre in the Waterloo Region.

Programs displayed

By Julie Lawrence

The Detweiler Centre is offering a co-operation program this fall to its high school students, who will study and George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator in the centre.

The co-op program will give the students more credit towards their high school diploma — two or three credits for the work at Conestoga College. The students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

In a general, Woods said the program will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

Detweiler Centre is offering a co-operation program this fall to its high school students, who will study and George Woods, Detweiler co-ordinator in the centre.

It is a well-known program, says Woods, and it is a well-known program, says Woods, and it is a well-known program, says Woods.

The co-op program will give the students more credit towards their high school diploma — two or three credits for the work at Conestoga College. The students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

In a general, Woods said the program will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

The co-op program will give the students more credit towards their high school diploma — two or three credits for the work at Conestoga College. The students will be working on the business program, while the other three will be studying in the business program.

